

CAFE L'APPETITO

ESTABLISHED 1981

OUR HISTORY

L'Appetito opened on Columbus Day, 1981 in a new high-rise building at 30 East Huron.

It was considered by many a pioneering venture. A little Italian grocery store from the Northwest side that moved into the heart of the big city. In time, the big city became it's neighborhood and it survived and thrived while remaining true to its Italian roots.

More than three decades and three generations later, L'Appetito is still thriving as a family run business and it continues with the vision of its founder, Anthony Spatara.

To this day, Cafe L'Appetito remains a destination for both Chicagoans and visitors looking for an authentic Italian experience.

We look forward to serving you at one of our downtown locations.
