The Ink by Hudson stores are located in concourses A and B. They are the 16th and 17th concession locations to launch at the airport as part of the 70 new food and retail brands opening there in a three-year, US$75 million concessions expansion programme.

"Ink by Hudson provides passengers with the best reading destination and a literary oasis at the airport," said Chicago Department of Aviation Commissioner Jamie L. Rhee.

"We welcome the variety of books, stationery and unique gifts that the Ink stores offer to the discerning traveller."

Hudson Group said the concept was built around a core offering of books but also features a collection of toys, gifts, travel essentials and indulgences, "from timeless quality pieces to pop culture phenomena".
